

ALBAMAR

Estate Bottled ▪ Casablanca Valley ▪ Chile

Wines from the cool climate Casablanca Valley

Albamar wines come from the prestigious Casablanca Valley—often called “Chile’s Burgundy.”

The name Albamar pays homage to the valley’s foggy sunrise “alba” and the cooling breezes of the ocean “mar.” The unique coastal location of the vineyard provides a long, warm growing season with cool nights, resulting in wines with refreshing acidity. The grapes are 100% estate-grown and exclusively picked by hand. Albamar wines represent excellent values, especially for a family-owned, appellation-based estate property
